

Medicaid Business Line Expansion Likely as Larger Players Offload Products.

June 18, 2001

Managed Medicaid is a different healthcare product because it requires different reporting and significant modifications to information systems. The managed Medicaid market is also changing—and opening up acquisition opportunities for plans that specialize in this population.

An article, published in News and Strategies for Managed Medicare & Medicaid (June 18), focuses on the Medicaid managed care market and features an interview with George Goldstein, PhD, president and CEO of Molina Healthcare of California; and Vice president for Health Plan Operations for Molina Healthcare, Inc.